

Pronunciation

1. Sound:

a as a in "father"
e as a in "fate"
i as ee in "feet"
 (short) o as o in "lot"
 (long) o as o in "bone"
u as oo in "cool"

ch as k (save in the words "cherub," "cherubim" and "Rachel," which from long usage have become Anglicised: here ch is sounded like ch in cheer; but "Cherub," a city, is pronounced "Ke'rub.")

For example:

Baruch, pronounced "Bah' rook"
 Ches' a lon, as "Kes' a lon"

2. In Hebrew proper names, G is hard before e, i and y, as "Gideon," "Gibeah"; except "Bethpage," which, having passed through the Greek tongue of the New Testament is subject to the rule applying to words from the Greek, whence "Beth phage" (as in "cage").
3. The diphthong ei is pronounced like ee "Keilah" (Kee'lah). When ei is followed by a vowel, the i is usually sounded like the y consonant: as Iphideiah (If e de' yah); the termination iah, in Old Testament names, nearly always taking that sound from the coalescing of the two Bounds "ee" and "ah" = "yah."
4. The consonants c, s, and t, before ia and iu, preceded by the accent, in most Scripture names, take the sound of "sh" (zh): as Cappadocia, (sha), Galatia (sha), Asia (zha), Tertius (shus).
